PURVEYANCE
FROM THE SUNSHINE TO THE SHELF

Purveyance solutions provides digitized solutions for the traceability and quality management throughout the entire supply chain for the fresh produce industry.

Waste is the biggest cause of financial losses to the producers, we have created tools for the supply chain which reduce waste and increase the financial returns back to growers so that we can have more sustainable futures.

Information on traceability, compliance and product quality starts at the grower, and through our range of tools all stakeholders add information to build the only available realistic picture of quality at each stage in the supply chain.

Purveyance solutions effectively report quality and compliance information to all linked stakeholders. Within 5 quick clicks we can drill down into the details of what quality issues are causing waste, which growers are affected and what products are most effected. This trend analysis and ability to report in real time allows technical managers and quality experts to concentrate their resources and effectively use data to drive quality improvements across the producer's base much more effectively.

The purveyance tools allow for the pro-active management of quality through our unique risk forecasting tools. We take specific information about the production environment and use this to calculate a risk assessment for the quality. This guideline can be used by the supply chain to effectively assist in the stock management of exported fruit, which has substantial transit times and allows the importers to assess the risk. By doing this Purveyance improves the efficiency of managing quality through better stock rotation.

Our proactive ability which sets Purveyance aside from the competition and will help the entire supply chain to take a more active role in the minimization of waste.

Waste is everybody's responsibility and at Purveyance we allow the supply chain stakeholders to work together and make the future more sustainable.
